SELLING TERMS & CONDITIONS

After booking a holiday, the customer must declare that he/she has read, well understood, kept and accepted the general , binding conditions which are part of the present contract and that he/she accept to communicate with the manager by e-mail.

The customer is aware of the fact that:

Once he has sent the booking, he /she intends to “purchase” a holiday from the chosen farmhouse

The contract can be considered concluded when the supplier ( in the specific case the farmhouse), sends his booking confirmation per e-mail.

The cost of the holiday depends on the number of people, on their age, on the length of the stay itself, on the price and on all the other terms and conditions fixed by the farmhouse.

The total cost of the holiday and the corresponding deposit sum are evidenced on the booking confirmation sent per e-mail.

The customer must send or wire the deposit within ten days from the booking date , following the instructions given on the booking confirmation.

Whenever the deposit is not received, the farmhouse has the right to end up the contract and to claim for damages , should this be the case.

According to the present law, the Customer has no right of withdrawal as this does not apply to the supply of services such as accommodation, catering and transportation and, most of all, when the Supplier accepts the commitment to sell these services for a certain period of time or at a fixed date ( art 7 d.Lgs185/99)

The Customer can exercise his right of withdrawal without paying any penalties only when the price of the holiday has increased, when the Supplier changes an essential, or some essential parts of the contract after the Customer has signed it, or in case the Supplier does not fulfil his obligations.

In case the contract changes, ( as stated above), the customer has a period of time of four days to let the farmhouse know if he/she accepts the new conditions or if she/he wants to exercise his right of withdrawal. When no written communication has been received, the Supplier understands that the new proposal has been accepted.

Should the Customer end up the contract before the departure date, the Supplier will keep the deposit.

According to art n 19 n. 2 Lgs 111/95, the Customer can complain about the purchased package tour or about any differences or not-fulfilments by means of a written letter; all the reportings must be sent within ten days from the departure date ( not later), or as soon as the Purchaser ascertains these discrepancies; in case the claims are presented straight in the farmhouse, the Supplier himself must find a prompt solution: in case a letter is received, it will always be the Supplier's responsibility to communicate with the Purchaser to solve the problem.

Finally, the Customer declares that he/ she accepts the Italian Law and will submit to it and to its Judges.
